Local 87-M History

Pay of $30 a week for six days of work, arbitrary firings, salary cuts, and ridiculous schedules. That's what brought the Guild to the newsrooms of Toronto in the Dirty Thirties. And since then, SONG has been working hard to get a better deal first for newspaper and now for all media employees.

It seems odd now, but in the 1930's, working Canadians looked south of the border when they wanted strong, dynamic and progressive union representation. For news industry employees, the obvious choice was the American Newspaper Guild, founded in 1933 by a man who was then one of the most well-known columnists in North America, Heywood Broun.

While skilled craft workers such as printers and press operators had long been organized at most major papers, the union idea was new to reporters, editors, advertising sales staff, and circulation and clerical workers.

But a small group of Toronto newsroom workers -- many of them women, who were only a small minority of editorial staffers in those days -- brought the American Newspaper Guild to Canada in September 1936 with the daunting task of organizing the newsrooms of the four Toronto dailies then publishing.

The new local was called the Toronto Newspaper Guild, Local 87 of the ANG, and its first decade was largely a story of failure. With legal protections weak, publishers were able to get away with subtle and not-so-subtle pressure tactics in order to prevent unions from taking root. Even at the Toronto Daily Star, known as a friend of labour (and founded by striking printers in the 1890s) an attempt in the early 40s to negotiate a contract collapsed after the company demoted known union supporters and engaged in the kind of blatant intimidation that is outlawed today. The ANG revoked the charter of the Toronto local in 1943.

But the need and desire for a union didn't die. In 1948, the Toronto Newspaper Guild was resurrected and was able to demonstrate majority support in the Star newsroom. That meant it could be certified by the Ontario Labour Relations Board under newly enacted labour laws, with the result that the company was obliged to bargain with the union. The new union's first president was Beland Honderich, later to become publisher and part-owner of the Star. Honderich set the tone for this new union when he wrote in the first issue of the local union's newsletter "We are now trade unionists...members of that great body of men and women who have been striving for years to improve the living standards of Canadian workers...A union, if it is to be successful, must be representative...it must be democratic..." Those goals continue to motivate this union.

After several months of bargaining, the Guild's first contract in Toronto and indeed the first ANG contract in Canada was signed in April, 1949, containing the milestone pay rate of $80 a week for reporters/photographers with five years of experience. The Star proclaimed itself on its news pages as the "first newspaper in Canada to establish the five-day, 40-hour week for editorial employees...it now becomes the first and only Toronto daily newspaper to pay its editorial workers time-and-a-half in cash for overtime."

The Guild was on its way. By 1953, the newsroom of the Toronto Telegram (a paper which eventually folded in 1971) was under Guild contract, and the Globe and Mail followed two years later. At the same time, other departments at the Star followed the newsroom into the union, so that the Guild soon represented advertising sales staff, circulation employees, delivery drivers and accounting clerks totaling almost 1300 members.

Other early Guild papers in Ontario were the Toronto edition of the Daily Racing Form, and the Brantford Expositor, whose mid-1950s unionization marked the local's first foray outside Toronto.

Employees made major gains in wages, benefits and working conditions in those early years, and were generally able to do it without having to resort to strike action. The very first strike in the young local's history took place at the Racing Form in July of 1951. It lasted all of 30 minutes. All 13 members went on strike when the employer refused to implement wage increases that had need negotiated. They returned to work with guarantees that all members would get their increases and they did. When the Guild's first major strike came, it was at a small paper, and it was a messy one.

Employees at the Thomson-owned Oshawa Times walked out in 1966 in a two-week strike that became one of the biggest Canadian labour battles of the era. While the strike involved only 35 employees, the courts granted a controversial injunction limiting picketing. That prompted a rebellion in the strong union town, and picket lines swelled to more than 1,000 with the support of other unions. When the local sheriff showed up to try to enforce the injunction, he was pelted with snowballs and beat a hasty retreat. Newspaper publishers were outraged, but the strike was settled very soon after. A second strike in Oshawa was also long and difficult in 1995 and created the local union's first strike paper operating in competition with the Times. At the end of the strike neither paper survived.

In 1955 the young local union had to confront the loss of one of its early activists and a former president A.O. (Alf) Tate, a Star photographer who was killed in a work accident. Tate and reporter Doug Cronk were assigned to report on a hurricane off the coast of Florida when their plane went missing. Their bodies were never found. The union honoured Tate by creating a journalism scholarship in his name. Originally, the scholarship was awarded to a needy grade 11 student who demonstrated ability and was selected by the Toronto School Board. Today the local maintains the A.O. Tate scholarship for a journalism student at Ryerson University in Toronto.

Fred Jones followed Tate as local union president. Jones left the local to work for the international union as a Canadian representative where he continued to work with local 87. He later returned to the local as Executive Secretary. His contribution to the union has also been recognized with an internal award. Every year a local activist is granted an educational subsidy in Jones' honour.

Co-operation between the Guild and other newspaper unions was one of the keys to the gains at the Toronto dailies in the 1950s, but the solidarity was strained in the wake of a disastrous strike by the printers (members of the International Typographical Union) in 1964. The printers at all three dailies took a stand against technological change, but Guild members continued working, and the papers continued publishing with the help of strikebreakers. The unionized printers never went back to work.

The late '60s and the 1970s were a more stable period for the union, as the Guild settled into perhaps a too-cozy relationship with the newspaper companies. Organizing of new groups was given little priority. The union, recognizing it was more than just a Toronto organization, changed its name in the late 70s to Southern Ontario Newspaper Guild, but made no serious effort to expand. The parent union, recognizing it had members outside the United States, changed its name from American Newspaper Guild to The Newspaper Guild. The early 1970s also saw the first major stirrings of Canadian nationalism within the union, as the Toronto Guild pressed with only minimal success for more Canadian autonomy within the international structure.

The local also had stable leadership through these years. Jack Dobson of the Globe and Mail served 8 terms as local president from 1959 through 1966 when he resigned to become a local union staff representative. Later, John Lowe of the Star led the union for 9 terms from 1976 through 1984. While a woman was not president until 1989 when Gail Lem was first elected, women played a key role in the union and its executive from the earliest days. Star reporter Judith Robinson was part of the 1939 organizing committee and women like Lillian Thain and Nadia Bozinoff also of the Star, Isabel Greenwood and Jean Pakenham of the Telegram and Margaret Daly of the Star all made fundamental contributions to the union's successes.

The 1980s saw a shakeup at SONG, as new officers were elected with a mandate to organize more workplaces and take a more aggressive approach to negotiations.

At the bargaining table this new approach saw the Guild's first strike ever at the Toronto Star, in 1983. The 1,500 SONG members were off the job for only four days, including a weekend, but the strike marked a turning point, and companies got the message that they couldn't take the union for granted. Meanwhile at the Globe and Mail, Guild employees took their first ever strike vote in 1982, also marking a new era in relations with the company. Those negotiations ended without a strike, and the Globe unit of SONG still has a strike-free record.

Organizing took off in the early '80s, with the Hamilton Spectator newsroom joining SONG and with the landmark organizing drive at Maclean's magazine, where editorial staff went on strike for two weeks in 1983 and gained their first contract. Maclean's part-time employees joined the union in 2005 and these two groups represent the only unionized operations in the Rogers Publishing empire. The Globe and Mail's outside circulation department and advertising staff also went union.

With those successes, news industry workers saw the benefits of unionization. By the mid-80s, editorial employees at the Metroland chain of non-daily papers joined SONG and bargained a contract that is seen as the pace-setter in the community newspaper sector. Soon employees of other non-dailies sought out SONG, and the union was expanding rapidly.

In the late 1980's, two of the largest non-union newsrooms in the province -- the London Free Press and Kitchener-Waterloo Record -- joined SONG. This was followed by organizing at a number of small Thomson-owned papers. Following long and bitter -- but successful -- first-contract strikes at Thomson papers in Guelph and Cambridge, SONG was able to organize employees at Thomson outlets in Belleville, Chatham, Niagara Falls and Midland. Contracts at all these papers made major improvements in wages.

The 1980's also saw a move for the Guild offices to its current home at 1253 Queen St. E., just east of Leslie St. In 1984, SONG purchased the two-storey former Target air conditioning and heating contractor building for $170,000. With the rapid expansion of membership and units, the former quarters on the ground floor and basement of a townhouse at 219 Jarvis St. had become cramped.

Despite layoffs and hiring freezes at many papers during the 1990s, SONG's membership continued to grow through organizing.

But throughout the period of expansion in the 1990's, the leadership of SONG became increasingly frustrated with the lack of attention and service that the Newspaper Guild's Washington head office was providing to Canadians. After a long and unsuccessful campaign for more Canadian autonomy within the Guild international, SONG members voted in 1994 to sever ties with The Newspaper Guild. Shortly afterwards, SONG affiliated with the Communications, Energy and Paperworkers Union of Canada (CEP), and is now Local 87-M of the CEP. The CEP is an all-Canadian union with more than 150,000 members and Canada's largest media union.

The Guild and the Star again did battle in 1992 during a one-month strike over the company's plans to contract-out its delivery department. The strike failed to stop the company's plans, but got a better deal for the laid-off employees.

In 1996, SONG's long-time president, Gail Lem of the Globe and Mail unit, was elected as the CEP's national vice-president of media, the top officer for the CEP's 15,000-strong media section, representing employees in print and broadcast across Canada. She was followed in that post by Peter Murdoch who is a former Hamilton Spectator reporter and SONG representative.

Despite restrictive labour laws passed by the Conservative government elected in Ontario in 1995, SONG has continued to organize, bringing in employees of ethnic community newspapers at Sing Tao Daily, Share, the Korea Times and the World Journal. In early 2002 a further 350 employees of the London Free Press chose union representation with SONG. Their Quebecor cousins in the Toronto Sun newsroom joined up in early 2003, followed closely by the Local's first broadcasting bargaining units at CHUM's New PL/WI/NX now known as the A Channel and Corus. Soon after pre-press employees at the Toronto Sun and editorial employees at the Ottawa Sun chose SONG. In addition, employees at the Stratford Beacon Herald advertising department and the Simcoe Reformer and the free daily Metro have joined SONG. By 2004, the Local represented media workers in newspapers, magazines, book publishing, television and specialty broadcasting, radio and internet: in recognition of this diversity, we changed the name of our Local to the Southern Ontario Newsmedia Guild.

In 2008, SONG expanded in a big way to the Ottawa area where we'd already organized the Ottawa Sun. Beginning in January, we added seven media units from the former Local 102-O, including the House of Commons broadcast/technical group, the Ottawa Citizen mailroom, the Winchester Press, the Glengarry News, the Pembroke Observer, TelAv and ELC. We now represent about 4,000 workers in all aspects of the media in Ontario and 35 different workplaces. The local and its members confront daily issues of media concentration, editorial integrity, contracting out, job security, pensions and the declining circulation of paid daily newspapers.

The local has had, and continues to have, success in supporting its members on these issues because of the willingness of members to volunteer their time and use their energy and creativity. Some take time from their careers to work full-time as local president or on local staff. In addition, the local has been well served by the dedication of its staff hired from outside the membership. Men and women who have spent countless hours in the negotiation and administration of collective agreements and ensuring the infrastructure of the local functioned on a day-to-day basis.

Look elsewhere on our website, www.song.on.ca, for examples of SONG contracts which set out wages, vacations, hours of work, overtime and many other workplace issues. The site also provides the names of the dedicated local officers and staff who have served this union since its formation.

ARTICLE 4 - GRIEVANCE PROCEDURE AND ARBITRATION

- (a) The parties to this agreement are agreed that it is of the utmost importance to adjust complaints and grievances as quickly as possible.

- (b) No grievance shall be considered where the circumstances giving rise to it occurred more than 12 working days before the filing of the grievance.
- (c) The aggrieved employee, who may be accompanied by a Union representative, shall present his/her grievance to his/her immediate supervisor who shall have five working days to adjust any complaint which has arisen. If, within that time no agreement is reached, the matter may be submitted to the Joint Standing Committee in accordance with the provisions of this section.

- (e) A Joint Standing Committee consisting of two representatives of Management and two representatives of the Union shall be designated. - (f) If the Joint Standing Committee cannot reach an agreement on the question or difference referred to it, at the request of either party hereto, within twenty (20) working days the matter may be referred to arbitration. The party making the request shall do so in writing, suggesting its nominee to an Arbitration Board or nominee as a single arbitrator. In general, it is intended that grievances be submitted to a single arbitrator; in any instance in which a party has applied for expedited arbitration under the Labour Relations Act, the other party may elect to submit the grievance to an Arbitration Board or a sole arbitrator in which case the other party shall comply and give up the right to expedite that arbitration. Within five (5) working days thereafter, the other party shall notify the party requesting arbitration as to its acceptance or rejection of the proposed arbitrator, or in the case of an arbitration board, its nominee to the board.

If the parties are unable to agree on a single arbitrator, or the nominees are unable to agree on a chairperson, within thirty (30) days, then the Minister of Labour for Ontario will be requested to make the appointment.

- (g) Grievances will be processed as quickly as possible but at a time and in a manner which will not unduly disrupt the operations of the publisher.

- (i) Time limits set out in this section may be extended, in writing, by mutual agreement.
- (j) The single arbitrator or arbitration board shall not have the power to alter or change any of the provisions of this Agreement, nor to give any decision inconsistent with the terms or provisions of this Agreement.
- (k) The Union shall have the right to file a grievance based on a difference directly with the Employer arising out of the Agreement concerning the interpretation, application, administration or alleged contravention of the Agreement.

Such grievance shall be submitted in writing by the Union to the Publisher within ten (10) working days following the occurrence or origination of the circumstances giving rise to the grievance commencing at Step No. 2 of the Grievance Procedure set out above.

- (l) The decision of the arbitrator or the majority of an arbitration board will be final and binding upon the Employer, the Union and the employees.

- (m) Each of the parties to this Agreement shall pay the cost of the arbitrator appointed by it, and the parties shall each pay one-half the cost of the Chairperson.
- (n) For the purpose of this Agreement, "grievance" means a complaint arising from the interpretation, application, administration or alleged violation of this Agreement.

ARTICLE 5 - DISCIPLINE AND DISCHARGE

- (a) No employee who has completed his or her probationary period shall be discharged or disciplined except for just cause.
- (b) An employee shall have the right, if the employee elects, to have a Union representative present at any disciplinary meeting with the employer. The absence of a Union representative if reasonable attempts have been made to ensure attendance of a Union representative does not nullify discipline or any action at the meeting.
- (c) An employee shall receive a copy of any formal discipline at the time it is placed in the employee's personnel file. Copies of formal discipline shall be removed from the employee's personnel file after 36 months from date of issue, provided that there has been no discipline issued during the 36 month period.
- (d) An employee who has completed his/her probationary period shall receive reasons for discharge or discipline in writing within three (3) working days of the action, with a copy to the Union.
- (e) A claim by an employee who has completed his/her probationary period with the Employer, that the employee has been unjustly discharged, shall be treated as a grievance if a written statement of such grievance is lodged by the employee within 10 days after the employee ceases to work and such grievance will be dealt with initially by the Joint Standing Committee.

ARTICLE 6 - SECURITY

- (a) The Employer shall have the exclusive right to determine the size and disposition of the staff.
- (b) If the Employer decides that it is necessary to reduce staff then employees will be laid off within each classification on the basis of the reverse order of their total length of service since last hired provided that the remaining employees have the qualifications (which may include skill, ability, knowledge, training and experience) to perform the work required. Classification means a job classification listed within a wage group in the Wage Schedule.

The Employer shall accept voluntary resignations, to be effective on the date the layoff is to take effect, from employees in the affected classification, provided those remaining in the classification have the qualifications, skill, ability, knowledge and experience to perform the work required without training. The number of employees to be laid off will be reduced accordingly.

An employee in a classification being reduced in number may elect to go into a lower rated classification provided they have the qualifications, skill, ability, knowledge and experience to immediately perform the work required to the Employer's satisfaction. Such employee must make his/her election within five (5) working days from the date of notice of layoff. This shall apply when the employee's total service with the Employer exceeds that of another employee in the lower classification, who will then become the employee to be laid off.

- (c) Upon termination of employment, exclusive of retirement, quit, death or just cause, an employee shall be given notice required by the Employment Standards Act with a minimum of three weeks' notice or pay in lieu thereof at the Employer's option. In either circumstance, the Employer shall give the Union written notice on the day the employee is notified.
- (d) Severance pay at the rate of one (1) week's wages for each completed six (6) months of continuous service or major fraction thereof shall be paid to employees who are permanently laid off, up to a maximum of 32 weeks. If a laid off individual is recalled to work before the expiry of the number of weeks of severance pay paid for, the unearned severance pay shall be refunded to the Employer. Reasonable terms shall be arranged if required by the employee.

An individual who is recalled to work after having received some or all of the severance pay he or she was entitled to shall, if the employee becomes entitled to severance pay again, have deducted from his or her continuous service the amount of continuous service used to determine the amount of severance pay previously paid to the employee. This adjustment in continuous service shall be made only for the purpose of calculating future entitlement to severance pay.

There shall be no duplication or pyramiding of severance under the provisions of the Employment Standards Act. If severance pay is required to be paid under the Employment Standards Act, the amount of severance pay paid or payable under this Agreement shall be reduced by the amount of such statutory severance pay.

- (e) Employees will be recalled to work in the reverse order from the classification from which they have been laid off, provided they have the skill, ability and experience for the work required and provided, however, that such recalls take place within one (1) year from the date of layoff.

Employees on layoff shall be eligible for recall to other positions in the Wage Group from which they have been laid off, provided they have the requisite seniority, and provided they have the qualifications, skill, ability, knowledge and experience to immediately perform the work required to the Employer's satisfaction. For this purpose, Editors and Multi-Media Journalists shall be considered to be in the same wage group. Such recall must take place within 1 year from the date of layoff.

Upon being so recalled, an employee shall within five working days notify the Employer in writing of the employee's intention to return to work and within an additional five working days report for work. The Employer agrees to advise the employee of such recall in writing with a copy of the notice to the Union. It will be the responsibility of the employee to provide the employer with an up-to-date home address and telephone number.

- (f) Any employee who refuses a position in the classification from which laid off automatically terminates any claim to further employment by the Employer except that a full-time employee may refuse work of a temporary nature, or part-time work, without affecting his/her recall rights.
- (g) New full-time employees will be considered probationary employees for the first 65 worked shifts of their employment. There shall be a new probationary period of 65 worked shifts for a new employee found unsuitable during his probationary period if the Employer transfers the employee to another job classification. The Employer shall notify the Union at the time this new probationary period is to commence. The above probationary periods may be extended, in writing, by mutual agreement.

Probationary employees shall be covered by this agreement, but may be dismissed for any reason prior to the successful completion of their probationary period, whether extended or not, provided the Employer does not act in bad faith or in contravention of any provision of this agreement. It is agreed the standard for dismissing probationary employees as reflected in this Article is a lesser standard within the meaning of the Labour Relations Act.

- (h) Employees shall be free to refuse a promotion to an excluded position.
- (i) An employee shall lose seniority and employment in the event that:
 - (i) The employee voluntarily quits.

- (ii) The employee is discharged for just cause and is not reinstated by an arbitrator.
 - (iii) The employee fails to report for work within 10 working days after notification by the employer of recall to work following layoff. If an employee fails to return to work for reasons of sickness or accident, the employee must provide a medical certificate from a qualified physician prior to reinstatement.
 - (iv) The employee has been laid off for a period exceeding 12 consecutive months.
 - (v) The employee has been absent without an explanation satisfactory to the employer for three working days.
 - (vi) The employee fails to report to work after an authorized leave of absence without providing an explanation satisfactory to the Employer.
 - (vii) The employee retires.
- (j) Seniority for regular full-time employees means the total length of consecutive and uninterrupted full-time service since date of last hiring subject to clause (k) below. The Employer shall post a seniority list annually and provide a copy to the Union.

Seniority for part-time employees means the total length of consecutive and uninterrupted service since the last date of hire, subject to clause (k) below.

- (k) Except as provided for in Article 10 (c) (maternity and parental leave), seniority will be frozen during a layoff or leave of absence without pay in excess of 30 days. If the employee returns to regular employment, seniority will be restored to the frozen level.

ARTICLE 7 - HOURS OF WORK AND OVERTIME

- (a) The workweek for full-time employees shall be five (5) days and 37.5 hours. On mutual agreement, the Employer may schedule employees to work regularly six shifts one week and four shifts the next week. In such case, the sixth shift shall not be paid at overtime rates.

- (b) Overtime shall be defined as work authorized and required beyond 7.5 hours in a day in all departments except editorial, where overtime will be defined as work authorized and required beyond 37.5 hours in a week.
- (c) When a full-time employee is required to work overtime, he/she shall have the option of taking cash or compensating time off equivalent to time and one half of the time worked, at a time mutually satisfactory to the Employer and the employee. A maximum of 37.5 hours of overtime may be banked at any one time by any person, after which overtime will be paid in cash.
- (d) Employees will not be required to begin one scheduled shift sooner than sixteen hours following the commencement of the previous scheduled shift, unless the employee consents.
- (e) In the mailroom, the Supervisor shall post each week's anticipated final work schedule by Friday of the preceding week, setting out the hours and days to be worked in the Mailroom. The schedule may be changed by the Supervisor to accommodate unforeseen inserts, commercial printing, breakdowns, newspaper changes, emergency situations, or other circumstances beyond the control of the Employer. The Employer commits to make every reasonable effort to give prior notice of the change to the affected employees.
- (f) Where an employee regularly works the same scheduled hours from week to week, where practicable the employee's normal starting time shall not be changed by more than one hour unless the employee has been given one week's notice of such change. Changes may be made by the Employer to cover emergency situations.
- (g) Regular full-time and part-time employees (excluding the mailroom employees) required to work anytime between 8 p.m. and 7 a.m. will receive a $1.25 per hour premium for the hours worked between 8 p.m. and 7 a.m.

Mailroom employees shall receive one dollar and twenty-five cents ($1.25) for each shift worked where the majority of hours worked are between 8 p.m. and 7 a.m.

LETTERS OF UNDERSTANDING

1 - CAMERA ALLOWANCE

Luke Hendry may be authorized to use his own camera when performing photographic duties at the Intelligencer. The Employer will pay him a monthly allowance of $30.00 for using his own camera.

2 - ARTICLE 11 (C)

This will confirm the agreement of the parties that the payment of salaries shall be made by direct deposit.

This will also confirm that commission cheques shall be issued by the fifteenth (15th) of the month and if they are not, an advance against commission shall be made when requested. In the event that the fifteenth (15th) of the month falls on a Saturday or Sunday, the commission cheques shall be issued on the Friday preceding the fifteenth (15th) of the month.

3 - NEW RETAIL BUSINESS ACCOUNTS (WITHOUT PREJUDICE)

It is understood and agreed that effective July 1, 1997 any new retail business accounts which deal directly with The Belleville Intelligencer and not through a third party, will be added to the commission pool. Past practice regarding retail accounts through a third party billed at net line rates will continue.

4 - CELL PHONES

The Employer will continue its current practice concerning cellular telephones if utilized by outside salespersons in the performance of their job duties with the Employer. The Employer will develop any administration guidelines and substantiation procedures.

5 - COUNTY WEEKLY NEWS ADVERTISING SALES REPRESENTATIVE

Effective upon ratification, the County Weekly News advertising sales representative(s) will be paid a full-time base rate of $350.00 per week. The base rate will also be increased by the applicable negotiated wage increases during the term of this agreement.

In addition, a commission of 6 % will be paid on all sales generated by the advertising sales representative.

6 - EMPLOYEES WORKING PAST AGE 65

Notwithstanding Article 3(c), or any other Articles of this agreement, the parties agree that in the event that a full-time employee continues to work past the age of sixty-five (65), the following will apply for the duration of this collective agreement.

The employee shall continue to be covered under the FlexMedia plan referred to in Article 16 under the terms of that plan, except he/she shall not be eligible for Long Term Disability coverage.

7 - PRESSROOM / INSIDE SALES SUPPORT

During the 2006 negotiations, the parties agreed to the deletion of certain language in Article 12(d) and the wage schedule pertaining to the former pressroom from the collective agreement that expires February 28, 2006.

The parties agree that should the pressroom be reinstated during the term of this collective agreement, then the applicable language and wage grid in the 2003 to 2006 collective agreement will also be reinstated, including any applicable negotiated general wage increases.

The above will also apply to the Inside Sales Support wage grid.

8 - VACATION ENTITLEMENTS

Any full-time employees who are involuntarily reduced to part-time status shall have their vacation and vacation pay entitlements maintained as at the time of their change in status. It is understood that these entitlements will thereafter be frozen and shall not increase in the future.

9 - PART-TIME ABSENCES

Notwithstanding Article 17(i) of the collective agreement, part-time employees outlined in Article 17(m) may elect to use any accrued vacation pay to cover legitimate absences, providing proper notification is given to the Employer.

#10 - STD / CASUAL ABSENTEEISM

If an employee is absent for more than four consecutive days and has not completed a Short Term Disability form in anticipation of an absence longer than ten working days, he or she will be required to provide a doctor's note for those days. For purposes of clarity, legitimate (see below) casual illness or absenteeism prior to eligibility for Short Term Disability under the Flex plan will be paid at regular straight time pay for the time absent from work.

Those employees who are compensated by a variable compensation plan will have any STD payment based on the Benefit Base, which is the prior calendar year's total earnings.

For absences that fall outside the Short Term Disability Plan under Flex Media, employees may be required to provide a doctor's note to the employer to authorize their absence from work, as well as to qualify for payment of wages.

The request for the doctor's note will be based on reasonable criteria, which are as follows:

- 1) the employee has an excessive record of absenteeism; or
- 2) the employee exhibits a pattern of absences; or
- 3) the employer has reasonable grounds to suspect that the illness was not legitimate; in which case the employee may be required by the Employer to provide a doctor's note.

#11 - TRAINING

This letter will confirm our understanding during negotiations that the employer will meet with the bargaining unit editorial representative at least twice a year to discuss training and retraining associated with the implementation of new technology.

During the life of this agreement, the employer will offer mandatory training to all newsroom staff for multi-media content. This may include multi-media forms such as blogs, podcasts and videography; and skills such as writing or copy editing for the Web and posting content to the Web.

The employer will supply, in as timely a manner as possible, in-house training in photography for any reporter who wishes it, and writing or copy editing for any photographer who wishes it.

Training in existing work-essential software or other technologies will be provided, if deemed necessary by the Employer, in a timely and equitable manner to all editorial employees.

New training will be introduced in an equitable way as new technology becomes available.
